You know, you are a cheap guy.

I am ?

You left home and skipped school and went back home. And you called that running away from home

To me, that's running away from home.

I was worried about you for nothing! After all, you slept at home while I was struggling on streets.

I did stay with you for a while after getting a call from my dad. Come on..

.....

And now I am pissed even more.

What ? Why ?

Come in and see for yourself!

What's up with the shirt ...

You must be really afraid of your dad.

When I thought of running away from home.
The next thought I had was imagining him suffer because of my actions.
There was no anger inside of me actually.
Because I know well that he does care about me and I am the only thing he has left after mom passed away.
He wants me to go there for a reason and he won't probably let me stay here.

"Chances" ?!
You call that "chances" ?!
You are giving up!
You have to go because of your father ?!
Are you going to live his life ?!
Quit using your father as an excuse when you can't even speak your own mind!
Coward !

Why do they leave me always ...
